Dear Dr. Sheetal

Sorry for the delay in attending your email. Hope you & your family are in good health.

We at Medicare hospital are challenged with increasing expectations from diagnostic microbiology. It has been my privilege to always get the right talent from your institution. Your rigorous training of these candidates always reflects in their performance.

I am currently looking for a candidate who is well versed with basic microbiology techniques like media preparation, inoculation, smearing, staining, microscopy and bacterial identification and sensitivity testing. Most importantly the candidate should have keen interest in serving mankind through his scientific skill. If there is any one presently who can meet these expectations, please send him/her to me.

Subject: Permission for performing antimicrobial activities of some plant extracts in your Institute.

Sir,

I am Sourabh D Jain, working as Asst. Professor in BMCPER, Dept. of Pharmaceutical Chemistry. Sir, I have 3 Students working on a project involving extraction and isolation of some plant constituents. The extracts are to be examined for their antimicrobial activities. Since your dept of Biosciences is renowned for its facilities, I would like to seek your permission to work there for this project under the guidance of Dr. Sheetal Bhasin, HOD, Biosciences Dept, MRSC.

Thanking You
